INTERESTING CAREER OF SERVIA'S NEW KING

Life Filled With Ups and Downs and Daredevil Escapades.

PARIS, June 15 .- Since Prince Peter Kara-Georgovitch has been suddenly proclaimed King of Servia, those who have known for a long time the members of his family here, and who some years ago knew him as an interesting figure in Paris, are recalling various phases of his adventurous and checkered career His life has been filled with daredevil escapades and the ups and downs of a royal pretender and a soldier of fortune. He has been constantly engaged in intrigues, plots and counterplots for the realization of his royal aims.

At the homes of Prince Bodijar Kara-Georgovitch and other members and friends of the family this afternoon it was pointed out that much confusion existed concerning the various branches of the family. Prince Peter the newly proclaimed King, is the head of the younger branch of the family, which occupied the throne through his father, Alexander, from 1842 to 1856.

Alexis in America.

Prince Alexis is the head of the elder branch of the family. Prince Bodijar is a brother of Alexis. Prince Peter has a brother named Arsene, who is living here. It was Prince Alexis who visited America, which created an impression among Americans here that the new King was once in the United States.

Prince Peter inherited from his father

Wandered in Exile.

He received in Belgrade the early education of a prince, but when a boy of twelve he saw the rule of his family terminated, and he and his relatives were driven into exile. Since then he has been a wandering royal pretender, and often resided in Paris, whither he came immediately after his exile.

He entered the Lycee of Sainte Barbe, and there qualified himself for the military school of St. Cyr, from which he was graduated a sublicutenant. Later he entered the Military Staff College, and graduating just before the outbreak of the Franco-Prussian war, he plunged into this conflict as an officer of the Foreign Legion, which was largely made up of scions of noble houses and adventurous foreigners. This famous body was attached to the Fifteenth Army Corps, often receiving attention and praise from Napoleon III

In Battle of Orleans.

He was in the hardest fighting of the war, and took part in the battle of Orleans, where his cousin, Nicolaievitch, was killed. He there attracted the attention of General Billot, who made him a member of his personal staff. He showed conspicuous bravery in the battle of Villersexel and was rewarded Honor.

On the conclusion of the war he turned his attention to Herzegovina's struggle fer liberty and took a prominent part in the rising which was the starting point of the Russo-Turkish war. He spent the greater part of his fortune in aiding the insurgents. One of his comrades in arms, named Nechich, describes him as an enthusiast in the national cause, dreaming of a greater Servia, and of all the Servians under one flag.
